dispatch received here from Mukden

says:
"It is reported that Gen. Rennenkampff has captured several Japanese guns and a convoy with 600 rifles, but that a force of 40,000, consisting of nenkampff's flank."

Cold Affects Jap Soldiers. The situation of the armies below Mukden is very puzzling. The war office is inclined to reticence.

Gen. Rennenkampif has pursued hotly a Japanese detachment below Sintsintin, as far as the Taitse river, and on the right the Russian scouts have explored the Hun, river, below Line-Yang. All the passes fell into Rennenkampfi's hands. The Japanese apparently failed to show their oldtime form, and official as well as unofficial dispatches indicate that the edge has been taken off the Japanese fighting capabilities by the cold weather.

The same reports say the Japanese threw away their rifles, many of which were captured.... Other reports say Japanese officers shot five soldiers who refused to face the foe.

Bombardment All Day. There was a heavy bombardment Friday along the Russian center and right, which might indicate that Gen. Kouropatkin is preparing to assume

It is the general opinion in military circles that the present situation cannot continue much longer, but it is argued that a frontal attack against fortified positions along the Shakhe river is bound to be disastrous to whichever side attempts it. Any serices advance to be successful, it is believed at the war office, must be accomplished by a wide strategic turn ing movement, as the armies are tow close for tactical flanking operations.

Reports the last few days indicate Chinese bandits and a reserve of 8,000 that Gen. Rennenkampff, in following Japanese, has started to turn Ren up the Japanese retreat, is meeting with comparatively little resistance but some fear is expressed that he may be running into a Japanese trap formed with the hope of cutting off his command. It is believed he cannot possibly hold a position so far south as the Taltse river.

In their fight the Japanese burned their supply depots in three villages and retreated, pursued by Cossacks. as far as the Taitse river. The Japanese losses were about fifty killed and 100 wounded. The Cossacks destroyed a Japanese telegraph line and occupled the village of Suidun, about seven and one-half miles southeast of Tsink-

Fail to Retake Hill.

With the confirmation of the news that the Japanese have occupied 203-Meter Hill and the report that the Russians unsuccessfully attempted its recapture, officials at the war office are beginning to prepare themselves for the inevitable. Golden Hill and Liaoti Hill are higher and dominate 203-Meter Hill, but the officials say that if the Japanese succeed in mounting heavy guns upon the latter it probably will be only a question, of

RECEIVER APPOINTED FOR MRS. CHADWICK, BY COURT

New York Lace Dealer Now Leads in Suit To Bring Matters to an Understanding.

Cleveland, Dec. 3.-Nathan Loeser, an attorney of this city, has been appointed receiver for all the property in this city belonging to Mrs. Cassia L. Chadwick, on proceedings in involuntary bankruptcy begun in the federal court by Jacques Krahaner, a New York dealer in laces and embroidery, on a claim for $600. The names of George Couch, a liveryman, and H. F. Potter, a merchant, also were signed to the petition on claims of $300 and $200 respectively. The adjudication under bankruptey law of Mrs. Chadwick's affairs will mean their full closing up. It will force a settlement and a complete estoppel of further operations by Mrs. Chadwick and involve a complete investigation, which may clear up the mystery of the securities held for her by Irl Reynolds of the Wade Park' bank, the value of which has been variously estimated at from $750,000 to $5,000,000. These securities figure in many of the loans negotiated by Mrs. Chadwick.

Charges Act of Bankruptcy. The petition in bankruptcy charges that Mrs. Chadwick committeed an act of bankruptey indicating insolvency fear mentle ago by imeriferring to the pany of Elyria a chattel mortgage irpon her personal property at her home in Euclid avenue, Cleveland.

The plaintiffs declare also "that within four months preceding the filing of this petition, while insolvent, Mrs. Chadwick paid to D. Wheaton & Son of Cleveland $700, with intent to prefer Wheaton over other creditors." The Wheatons are meat dealers at 2245 Euclid avenue.

The receiver was appointed by Rof. eree Harold Remington, who was car-United States District Judge Wing. Referee Remington fixed the bond of Mr. Loeser at $10,000.

Constitutes Preference. Under the bankruptcy law any money paid out upon a debt within six months previous to the filing of the petition in bankruptcy is considered to mean that the bankrupt prefers them to other creditors. The law also allows the receiver to collect from such creditors any moneys or valuables received and distribute them aniong other creditors, all being treated alike, receiving the same percentage of the assets found according to the amount of their claims.

Vulcanite Roofing

One of the principal advantages of Vulcanite Roofing over ordinary roofing is that it can be put on in cold weather without cracking.

Vulcanite Roofing is not affected by either heat or cold, hence its superiority over other roofing.

Vulcanite Roofing has been on the market for upwards of sixty years on the continent of Europe, where after being exposed in every way to tests by experts, it is admitted to be the most perfect roofing in existence. It has been adopted by the English Warand Admiralty Departments after the strictest examinations by Government surveyors Edith's Confession "The papers say Mr. Morris will be arrested! It's awful, Jessie! Look at the big headlines! Isn't it awful?" Edith Hancock's checks were reddened with excitement as she dashed into her cousin's room, "Mr. Blake was here while the general was at breakfast," she gabbled on, breatnlessly. "They talked a minute and then he hurried away. Isn't Mr. Blake lovely? And he's so big and handsome, and generous, and good-looking, and manly, and—and everything. just love him Jessie, don't you?" Sho looked closely at Jessie Carden. "I-I like hlm. Edith. It wouldn't do for both of us to love him, would it, cousin mine?"

"He loves you," protested Edith, with a blush. "I know he does. Are you sure you don't love him, Jessie, just a little bit?"

"Quite sure," laughed Jessie, as the love one man at a time-it's conventional, but it's true."

"You still love John Burt?, What. a foolish little sweetheart you are, wasting your life on a man you haven't heard from for years! You're jesting, Jessie; don't reject Mr. Blake."

"It's not likely I shall have a chance," said Jessie. The little face had grown very serious. "I sincerely hope not, Edith, John Burt, is not dead, and he has not forgotten me. He will return, and, rich or poor, my faith is in him. I know he'll come back, and when he does he'll find me

There was a trustful light in the deep brown eyes and a longing smile touched the tender lins. Edith's face was lighted with joy as she clasped ber cousin's bands,

"You're the dearest darling in the world, and no man is good enough for you." she exclaimed. "John Burt will return; I'm sure of it, and he'll be proud of you. But, Jessie, you must not let Mr. Blake propose to you. You won't will you, Jessie?" 'Why?" asked Jessie in surprise.

---" and Edith faitered. She lowered her eyes in confusion, but when she looked again in Jessie's face they flamed with passion. Oh, Jessie, can't you undersand?

I'm jealous of you, horribly, madly lealous," and she threw herself sobbing on her cousin's breast. "I know it's not your fault that he loves you, but you can make him stop. Please make him stop. If it wasn't for you he would love me. Tell him-tell him anything so that he will know that you don't love him! Oh, Jessie, won't

"What can I tell him?" asked Jessie in amazement. "I can't make him propose and then commend him to an other. But, Edith, darling, I'm so sorry, so awfully sorry!"

When Jessie could command herself she asked if Edith really loved Jim.

"I loved him the moment I saw him and he fell in love with you at the same instant," declared Edith Hancock, whose intuition had told her the "Make him stop, Jessie: you can find some way to do it: I know you can. incarnation of the terrors of hell, relieved by some of the joys of heaven. John Burt was in his office at eight o'clock, and Mr. Hawkins and James Blake joined him a few minutes later. "Is General Carden here?" asked

"He's in my room," replied Blake. "Give him the cash for that L. & O. check and have him present the option at Randolph Morris & Company the moment they are open for banking business," instructed John Burt. Bid L. & O. above twenty-seven until General Carden has the stock in roses came to her cheeks. "I can only his possession. Send two witnesses along with him. That will prevent any chance for a quibble. When he comes back with the stock, turn it over to me."

"Aye, aye, General Burton!" claimed Blake with a profound salute. He seemed in high spirits as

Let us look in on another scene. There was no outward sign of excitement in the offices of Randolph Morris & Company. Morris took personal command of his brokers on the floor of the Stock Exchange.

Cosmopolitan opened at a loss of several points, but, the melling by Blake brokers was not so heavy as had been expected, and the stock rallied when giver support by Morris and others interested with him. The roung millionaire speedlly regained his courage.

'Bid 'em up; bid 'em up!" he whispered to his head broker. "We've got he Blake crowd on the run already! They dare not sell. Take all they offer and bid for more!"

It was only a moment past ten o'clock when General Carden walked briskly up the marble steps and entered the Morris building. He stopped at the outer railing and addressed Mr. Mason, the Vice-President of the company.

"I hold an option on ten thousand shares of L. & O. stock," said the general, producing an envelope from an inside pocket.

"Yes?" Mr. Mason raised his eyes with a faint show of interest, and tapped the brass rall with a pencil. "So I understand, General Carden."

'Under its terms I can take up the stock at a stipulated figure, provided the market price is above twenty-six dollars a share."

"That is the agreement. You owe us about two hundred and eighty thousand dollars on that stock, General Carden. Do you wish to pay it tc-day?"

A sarcastic smile played around the corners of Mr. Mason's mouth.

"I do. I demand the stock and will meet the terms in cash."

Very well, General Carden, it can quickly be arranged."

There was no change of expression on the grave face of the banker as he turned to a clerk and ordered him to produce the stock from the vaults. Mr. Mason glanced at the option and made a rapid calculation.

Two hundred and eighty-two thousand, four 'hundred and sixty seven dollars and seventeen cents," he said, passing over a slip of paper. "Is that your figure?"

General Carden bowed and motioned to one of his companions, who ling blocks of L. & O. To-day he seplaced a satchel on the counter. From | cured ten thousand shares from Genits depths General Carden produced the money demanded and exchanged holdings of Mr. John Hawkins, gives it for the stock.

"I beg your pardon! Oh, it's you, eyes. "What in hell are you doing it is believed that only a few scathere? You're discharged-fired; d'yo tered shares are yet in the market, understand? Get out of here and and that the stock is cornered. keep out!"

'You are a cur and a coward, Morrist" he said, looking at the younger man with blazing eyes. "Lay a hand on me if you dare!"

With a muttered oath Morris turned and left the old soldier standing defiantly by the railing. A minute later General Carden entered a carriage and was driven rapidly to the offices of James Blake & Company. In the meantime Morris had followed Mr. Mason to his private office. "I'd like to punch old Carden's head, and I'd have done it hadn't it been for you!" he declared. "What's he prowling around here for? What did he want?'

"He demanded his L. & O. stock," replied Mr. Mason.

"His L. & O. stock," repeated Mor-s. "Well, what of it? He didn't wish me to make him a present of it, did he? If he comes around again

"Old Carden took up his stock and paid over the money? What do you mean, Mason?' "I mean just what I say, Mr. Morwas the reply. "Do you know what has happened? With that stock you lose control of L. & O. Someone is back of General Carden in this transaction." "Blake! Blake!" gasped Morris.

He clutched the arm of his chair and the muscles of his neck twitched nervously. Pacing up and down the room he burst into a storm of incoberent profanity.

The ticker, which had been silent, spluttered rapidly, and the ominous sound did more to call Morris back to his senses than had the sober words of the broker. He lifted the tape and eagerly scanned the characters "What's that? This must be a mistake! Five hundred shares of I. & O. at 38! It must mean 28?" Morris gazed at the figures like one in a trance.

There came a violent rapping on the door, and, without waiting for a response, a broker entered. His collar was torn open and his hair was rumpled and moist with perspiration.

"Blake & Company are bidding up L & O.!" he exclaimed. "I've sold them four thousand shares up to 35, and they are yelling for more. How does it stand now?"

He took the tape from Arthur Morris' nerveless hand.

"Thirty-nine! Thirty-nine and a half! Six hundred at forty! A thousand at forty-one! Something's up, I tell you! What shall we do, Mr. Mor-

Morris gazed hopelessly at Mr. Ma-BOD. "What can we do?" he asked, ly. His brain was in a whirl, : A heavy step was heard in the hallway and Randolph Morris entered the room.

"You've raised hell, haven't you?" was his greeting to his son and heir. "I told you to keep your nose out of this Cosmopolitan business. You've made a fine mess of it! I suppose you think, because the bottom hasn't fallen out of Cosmopolitan, that you're all right, don't ye? Been supporting it, haven't ye? Of course you have. You're an assi. Admit it, and take your losses. I'll bet this damn fool play will cost more than a million."

"Tell him about this business," said Arthur Morris, sullenly turning to Mr. Mason. In a few words the latter explained what had occurred in L. & O. Tho old millionaire's face was a study during this hurried recital. . The look of anger changed to one of perplexity and then to fear. The millions amassed in a lifetime were menaced in his old age; and the fires of defense and definnce blazed again in the eyes of Randolph Morris. "How much I. & O. have you?" he

"Thirty-five thousand shares," replied Mr. Mason. "How many have you sold?" addressing his son. 'About seventy-five thousand." "Hu-m-m-m. Fine outlook! Forty thousand shares short on a stock, with only a hundred thousand shares in all," growled Randolph Morris. "By God, if I pull out of this thing with a dollar I'll place it where you can't find it with a set of burgiar's tools!

Randolph Morris glared at his son, fumbled for his glasses and bent over the tape.

"Fifty-five bid for L. & O.," it read. "Bid sixty for any part of ten thousand shares. Gimme that telephone! Go to the exchange, Mason, and get on the other end of this wire, and I'll give you the orders."

Shortly before noon a news agency made public a statement which hastened the crisis. It read:

"The deal in L. & O. was engineered by Mr. James Blake, the dashing young operator whose advent in New York was signalized by the recent upheaval in prices. A Solemn Duty.

A solemn duty which we owe society, our children and ourselves is that nothing which can be done to assist nature at that time when our wives are to become mothers should be left undone. Of all the countless details to be observed at such a time, no single one is of more importance than the bodily welfare of the expectant mother; she must not experience undue suffering through any lack of effort on our part.

Why Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First-The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: Second-That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: Third-It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge. Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

The Kind You Have Always Bought and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

Letters from Prominent Physicians Addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. W. L. Leister, of Rogers, Ark., says: "As a practicing physician I use Castoria, and like it very much."

Dr. W. T. Seeley, of Amity, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria for several years in my practice and have found it a safe and reliable

b. Raymond M. Evarts, of Santa z, Cal., says: "After using your Castoria for children for years it annoys me greatly to have an ig-norant druggist substitute some thing else, especially to the patient's disadvantage, as in this case. I enclose herewith the wrapper of the imitation."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of CastoDr. W. F. Wallace, of Bradford, N. H., says: "I use your Castoria in my practice, and in my family."

Dr. Wm. I. McCann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine and aside from my own family experience, I have, in my years of practice, found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. Howard James, of New York City, says: "It is with great pleasure that I desire to testify to the medicinal virtue of your Castoria. I have used it with marked benefit in the case of my own daughter, and have obtained excellent results from its administration to other children in my practice."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleve-land, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Cas-toria extensively as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I um aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Channing H. Cook, of Saint Louis, Mo., says: "I have used your Castoria for several years past in my own family and have always found it thoroughly efficient and never objected to by children, which i is a great consideration in view of the fact that most medicines of this character are obnoxious and therefore difficult of administration. As a laxative I consider it the peer of anything that I ever prescribed."

Dr. L. O. Morgan, of Sc. Amboy, N. J., says: "I prescribe your Castotia every day for children who are suffering from constipation, with better effect than I receive from any other combination of drugs."

Dr. H. J. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. Wm. L. Bosserman, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I am pleased to speak a good word for your Castoria. think so highly of it that I not only recommend it to others, but have used it in my own family."

Dr. F. H. Kyle, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "It affords me pleasure to add my name to the long list of those who have used and now endorse your Castoria. The fact of the ingredients being known through the printing of the formula on the wrapper is one good and sufficient reason for the recommendation of any physician. I know of its good qualities and recommend it cheerfully.".
